

Teaching Microbiology in Higher Education

Annual Conference satellite meeting
Monday 9 April 2018 11:00–18:00

During this symposium, we will discuss and share innovative ways of teaching microbiology in higher education. Delegates will benefit from sharing best practice and collaborate on identifying solutions for challenges encountered during teaching.

Topics:

- Explore the use of modern teaching methods.
- Discuss the impact of the implementation of the Teaching Excellence Framework on lecturers.
- Become part of a network and continue to share current pedagogical approaches.
